An Invitation to be Invitational

The holiday season is upon us. November and December are filled with opportunities for us to celebrate together. And, as we approach the last two months of the year, we have eight great Sundays of worship prepared between now and Christmas—that's right, only eight Sundays until Christmas!

As we head into this holiday season, we are fortunate to have new faces in our pews most Sundays. A growing group of new(er) families are worshipping with us regularly, with new families being added to their number nearly every week. There's never been a better time than this holiday season for you to invite someone to join you at Central.

So here's my invitation to you. When you have the opportunity, encourage a friend or neighbor to try worshipping with us. Invite them to come with you. Tell them you'll pick them up or that you'll meet them in the parking lot. Most people welcome an invitation like that from someone they know and trust. People are as hungry for community and connection as they have ever been, and Central might be the perfect place for them to plug in.

Many people who are not currently connected to a church are just waiting for someone to invite them. Maybe they're waiting for you.

So let me encourage you to take the small risk of being invitational. If each of us invited one family to Central between now and Christmas, you'd be amazed at what God could do through us. And, when you see someone in worship whom you don't know yet, introduce yourself and let them know how great it is to have them here.

We're closing in on the most wonderful time of the year at Central. Let's share it with as many people as possible.

See you Sunday,

Matt

Music Ministry

What a fun day of worship and music-making we had on Sunday! Thank you to the Choir, the Scarbrough Men, Dennis, Henry, and Yen Yu for a great time of worship Sunday morning. And what an exciting concert with the Fayetteville FUMC choir! These collaborations are so important in the life of our churches. We will continue to look for opportunities in our own community and beyond to share music and God's love.

Henry Lee will be presenting an organ recital on November 9, at 5:00 pm. This is another opportunity to invite friends who might not come to Central, but can enjoy what Central has to offer.

Please continue to pray for the Music Ministry as we enter this busy season of preparing for our ongoing worship services and Christmas services. Pray for good health, good rehearsals, and that we would honor God in all we do.

Gratefully,

Ronnie
